

POETRY.

A POEM FROM AN ALBUM.

That love is common lessons not our own—
Sings the poet whom we love; common
And old as earth these human passions
Which God wrote and men act all through Their lives;
The same old plot with stage and actors Changed.
This scene we change our parts were in dialogue
Is the old, sad one which has signified o'er all—
We were a bright band of sympathy,
With swift words—shut—passed from lip to lip.
And, ere our souls have fairly shaken hands,
Chance parts us—and with sorrowful goodbyes.
Farewell! and yet hopeful, we depart;
And then we think, each plotting on alone,
That is this earth-born friendship at the best?
Two human souls that, blindly wandering
In the thick darkness of a clouded world,
And groping with stretched hands for some support.
Touch one another in the dark and cling Close, close together! Till Heaven's daylight come.
Two shipwrecked hearts that on life's tossing
waves
Hold by one drifting spar, some common faith;
Till death, death-haunted and shadow-driven
But with Hope's sunlight gilded all about,
Rescues Time's shipwrecked for eternity.
Well, well—strange tidings and ever-shifting circles
Has our broad ocean, life? God grant that some day bring us two together once again.
Before we die; if not, fare ever well!
We have enjoyed the sunlight friendship gave,
And now the parting, as its shadowy
All rays that come from heaven, on earth, cast shade.

MISCELLANY.

A WOMAN ON A SEALER.

BY CHARLES E. BURD.

The last week in February always finds the ancient port of St. John's Newfoundland, in a state of unusual activity. The wharves are alive with men in oilskin clothing and immense boots, the supply warehouses are full from morning till night in weighing out salt beef and mannot allowed to start until the tenth,
this giving all an equal chance.

The vessels are nearly always ready at the same time, and it is an inspiring sight to see them only on the morning of the day spreading their canvas for the start.
There is as much excitement among the various crews to get the lead there is among the owners of horses in a race, and not unfrequently accidents happen from vessels running foul of each other.

The favorite sealing grounds lie all along the Labrador coast, although carcasses have been taken along the northern New Brunswick coast and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the islands. The ground seal, therefore, is for Labrador, and not unfrequently from two to four hundred vessels may be seen at the same time plowing their way under full stretch of canvas in that direction.

St. John's, as many of its readers know, is built upon a hill, and consists almost wholly of a single street, which runs from the water up over the hill for something over a mile. This branch numberless little lanes and alleys and side streets, inhabited mostly by fishermen and their families. It was a little after sunset on the evening of the last of last March that a story, which could have been taken from the pages of one of these little streets, carrying a bundle in one hand and a small canvas
bag, such as sailors use for their clothing, in the other. He passed the corner as he turned the corner and stood looking seaward. Below him stretched the broad harbor, dotted, it seemed to him, with more vessels than he could count.

Most of them, he thought, were from the long fringe of wharves and dropped anchor, waiting for midnight and ready for the start. The twin mountains which darkened the harbor entrance loomed up gaily on both sides, and the fortifications which lay at their feet were hardly perceptible in the gathering dusk. The harbor light shone clear and steadily,
as he could hear the splash of the oars
as the boats plied their way between the shore and the schooners, carrying aboard
the crews or bringing off their visitors and friends.

"There goes the 'Anther,' he muttered to himself, as a tiny little schooner fell away from its wharf, to seek the better position. "And there the 'Walrus' and 'Neptune.' They've got out since four o'clock, and I suppose the boys are all aboard. The 'Wolf' won't get away from the wharf before ten o'clock, father says; but I might just as well be on board as here."

A sudden shout, as he stooped to pick up his bundle, made him turn his head.
"Hi! Dan! Say here!"
"Why, Johnny Baker! I thought you were off an hour ago."

"No. Mother had more mending to do than she thought; and then I wanted to get one running good before I set start. Shant get another very soon, you know."

The speaker was a boy a little larger and older than Dan, and was similarly equipped, with the addition of a huge tin pail, which seemed to encumber him considerably with its weight.

"What have you got in that?" inquired Dan, curiously.
"Doughnuts and cheese and boiled eggs
and pie," answered Johnny. "Mother wouldn't make it. We shall have to stow it out of sight somewhere. You shall have half. 'Twon't last long; but then it'll taste good when it does."

"Let's keep back till after day, then," suggested Dan. "We can get it then easy enough. [Father hasn't gone aboard yet, and we've two or three good hours yet.]

It was half-past eight before Johnny and Dan made their appearance at the wharf where the "Wolf" was lying. There was little difficulty in getting their extra freight below without notice and hiding it away under their bunk. An hour later the schooner started away from the wharf and worked well down toward the Narrows, so as not to be the last in going out.

At midnight the start was made. The shouts of the men, the creaking of blocks and flapping of sails, and the engines displayed by the captains of the various crafts to get under way made the scene an exciting one to all concerned. There was no waiting for the tide, for, single-as it may appear, there is no perceptible tide in the harbor of St. John's. One by one the impetuous vessels crept through the narrow channel, past the light, under the frowning batteries, and long before daylight the entire fleet was dancing

upon the broad waters of the Atlantic.
The wind was fair, and they drove merrily before it, skirting the rocky eastern shore of the island day after day, sometimes out of sight of it altogether, and again so near that the fishing boats upon the beach could be plainly distinguished.

The two boys were in their element.
It was their first voyage and everything was new to them. Dan's father was captain of the "Wolf," and, as the boys were cousins, the widest latitude was allowed them on board. The contents of the pail lasted hardly beyond the second day, and they were then forced to fall back on salt pork for their principal diet.
It made little difference, however. Fishermen and fishermen's sons are seldom particular as to what they eat, and are rarely troubled with indigestion.

It was not until the morning of the sixth day that the low white line of the Labrador coast rose in sight. Some half dozen vessels were far in advance, as many more were almost within hailing distance, and behind they were scattered at intervals far as the eye could reach.
If the wind holds, we shall reach Green Bay to-night," said Capt. Powers to one of the men. "It looks now as if it would shift round to the eastward; and if it does, the ice jags 'll save us the trouble of getting any further."

"How will it?" asked Dan, who had been listening.
"I'll force the ice against the shore so that the old seals can't get back to the water," replied his father. "They carry their young ones as near land as possible,
and yet keep within reach of open water.
A stiff wind from the east would drive
the ice ashore and close up their diving places."

The practiced eye of the captain was not deceived. Before night the wind shifted and gradually increased to a gale.
For nearly two days there was no cessation in its violence. The "Wolf" lay off and on her captain knowing that as soon as there was a lull his harvest was ready for him.

When Dan and Johnny came on deck
early on the morning of the third day, the wind had sunk to a light breeze, and the schooner was slowly working toward the shore.

"Look there!" shouted Dan, in a state of great excitement, clutching Johnny's arm and pointing to the ice-jags.
There was no need of the exclamation, however. Johnny's eyes and mouth were already wide open at the sight.

They were in a large bay, and on each side of the bay, and the sea was very calm. The ice was covered with seals.
It seemed as if there were millions of them.
Many of the old ones were playing with their young, and very few seemed to have the fear of the danger which awaited them.

"You two had better stay on board," said Captain Powers, as the boat was tied down to the water; "there isn't a great deal of danger, but the boys are very easily scared, and I don't want to see their hearts as hard enough yet to stand the sight."

"Do let us go," pleaded Dan, half crying. "It's too bad, there. We've been up here since we started, and we haven't seen a seal yet. The boys are very easily scared, and I don't want to see
their hearts as hard enough yet to stand the
sight."

and the storing of the fat and skins.
That took nearly three days longer, and in less than a week from the time the "Wolf" had entered Green Harbor her bows were turned southward again, with a full cargo and the first of the season.
At sunset on the thirtieth day of March she threw out her plank at the very wharf where she had been lying a month before.

"Hillo, boys!" shouted Tom Crowell,
almost as soon as they set foot on shore.
"Hillo a big time, hain't ye? How many seals did ye kill, each of ye?"
Dan looked at Johnny and Johnny looked back at Dan, but neither answered.
They felt that silence was better than words, and, according explanation, they toiled with eager feet up the long street, toward the homes and arms that were waiting to receive them.

ECONOMY IN THE HOUSEHOLD.
(From the Brunswick.)
One morning about two weeks ago,
Mrs. McGoochen beamed blandly across the breakfast table at her husband and informed him that she had concluded to discharge the hired girl and do her own work. This announcement startled Mr.
McGoochen almost as much as if she had declared her determination to marry him. He had known that the hired girl was a heavy drain upon his meagre salary, but his wife had educated him to regard it as indispensable, and he had made up his mind to endure for ever.
That she should suddenly offer to dispense with the services of a girl was something for which he was not prepared.
Looking at her with an expression in which hope and doubt painfully mingled,
he said:

"Now, why, you can't do it, Eliza."
"Can't do it, indeed? I'd like to know what's the reason? Lots of women in this town do a great deal more, and think nothing of it. The 'Wolf' says, and if I can't do the work for us three, I'd better go to a hospital and done with it."

"What put you into the notion?"
asked her husband, hardly yet recovered from his surprise.
"Well, Peter," she replied, speaking in a tender, self-reproving tone, "I'll tell you. I've been thinking lately how hard you have to work, and how little I have done to assist you, in comparison with what I might and ought to do, and it appears to me that I should try to reduce our expenses as much as possible, and the best way I know of is to do my own housework. We are poor, just making a beginning in life, and it is my duty to help you."

With a voice almost choked with emotion at this unexpected evidence of his wife's devotion and energy, he feebly tried to break her resolution, but she would not be turned back. "I don't want to be a slave for him," she said, "but I want to be a free woman, and I want to be a help to him, and I want to be a good mother to our children."

"You are a good woman, and I am glad to see you so determined," said Peter, "but I am afraid you will find it very hard work, and you will be tired and unhappy. I don't want you to be unhappy, and I don't want you to be tired. I want you to be happy and contented, and I want you to be a good mother to our children."

"I am not afraid of hard work," said Eliza, "and I am not afraid of being tired. I am only afraid of being unhappy and discontented. I want to be happy and contented, and I want to be a good mother to our children."

look well besides adding to their value and durability. Crude petroleum, which costs only $4 or $5 a barrel, is excellent for this purpose. It should be used on old buildings preparatory to painting.
Crude petroleum will not endear buildings from fire. It hardens wood and makes it less easily combustible.

A PHOTOGRAPH.
(From Major De Forest's New Novel.)
Early in the war, and while yet a complete ignoramus in military affairs, he had been appointed to high command because he was a man of parts, and because he claimed himself a man of influence.
All through the struggle he had held eminent positions, giving orders to officers of far greater ability than himself, and to many thousands of soldiers of far greater courage. Never but twice had he been under fire, and then only by dint of blundering—he blundered promptly rectified. Never had he devised a campaign, and never overlooked a field of victory. His real battles were carried on in his tent, or in the privacy of his study, and he was never out of the information of the most intimate surroundings of the war. These heroes of the pen did him all the fighting that he directed or knew how to direct. They did the work of the war, and he was the man who per, and made the war. He was the man who, with his strategy and his tactics,
and forwarded them for prompt publication. They put him at the head of columns of columns of print. No other general history of the war, or any other devils which were never fought, or which were fought under the management of

THE NEWS.

Crimes.

Judge Morris, counsel for Theodore Tilton, has served notice on Sherman Sterling, attorney for Henry Ward Beecher, to be prepared to answer in a new trial on the first Monday in September.

A gang of counterfeiters were arrested in St. Paul on the 31st ult. Their names are Geo. W. Woolsey, alias Clark, alias Carl, alias Clark, his wife, and a man named Fred. They occupied a small house in the suburbs, and had procured the business for three months. A full outfit of counterfeiters' implements were found, embracing plates, a press, engraving tools, and chemicals. Over ten thousand ten dollar bills on the First National Bank of Paduca, N. Y., were found, none of which were complete, but all well executed so far as work had progressed. This is a portion of the gang captured at Roswell, N. M., last year, and are among the most expert in their profession. The men are held in $10,000 bail, and the woman, who is rather prepossessing in appearance, and very loyal to her husband, is held in $5,000.

An attempt was made to burn the New York express train on the Toledo, Wabash & Western Railroad. The parties making the attempt had cut open the switch, and left it open. In consequence of the recent floods, the Toledo & Wabash Road, with characteristic care, have been running a pilot engine in advance of each passenger train. This engine, which was in advance, ran into the trap laid for the express train, and was thrown from the track and badly wrecked, and the engineer, Frank W. Shepherd, living in this city, was crushed and mangled to death, and the fireman, Michael Mack, was so badly lacerated that death will come. Shepherd was an old resident here, an able and careful engineer. His body reached here today and will be buried to-morrow by the Brotherhood of Engineers.

A correspondent called upon Gov. Derridge on the 7th of August, to learn if he intended to take any steps to put an end to the assassinations in Williamson county. The Governor said the matter had engaged his attention for several days, and as yet, he was unable to see just how he could reach and punish the fiends who were committing the murders. The Legislature of last winter, he said, had given attention was frequently called to the importance of the matter, had failed to give any money with which to pursue and bring the murderers to justice. The law as it now is, only allows him to offer a reward of $200, which would be simply a farce, if done. The civil authorities of that county, through whom he would have to act, have not, as yet, notified him of their inability to enforce the laws. While, as a matter of fact and law, the Governor could send men to aid the sheriff in enforcing the law without such notice, yet it might be regarded as an extra official measure on his part. As the thing now stands, the Governor does not see that he can do anything. Yet he will, probably, if notified of the want of power on the part of the county authorities to enforce the law, decide some mode of rendering them effective aid.

There has been a growing suspicion that the four young Cincinnati boys who were recovered from the river, and who were supposed to have been run over in a skiff by the tow boat, "My Choice," were really the victims of foul play. The bodies, when recovered, were found to be horribly mangled about the chest and throat. The theory is advanced that this was done by the barges they struck, but this is now discredited. Of all their effects, consisting of some $800 worth of jewelry, guns, finger rings and watches, etc., nothing was recovered. A trunk and a little dog, besides the pilot of the tow boat who was the skiff when the boat struck it. There are two whisky bootmen who appeared to know all about the parties, who got the skiff after the collision, and while sitting there a third party came along, and although the gas was burning brightly, he succeeded in getting from $25,000 to $10,000 worth of jewelry out of an open safe, and escaping. The loss was not discovered until Friday morning.

Mrs. Drake, living near Eau Claire, Wis., drowned herself and one child on the 6th of August in Lake Koshong. She attempted to drown two other children with herself, but they were rescued by the boat crew. So far we cannot really learn the cause, though of course it is guessed at by many who, however, profess to know but little about her or her family.

Billy Reeder, confined in the Illinois penitentiary, has made a statement, professing knowledge of who perpetrated the Nathan Bedford Smith murder, but he will divulge no names so long as he is in prison. He, however, affirms that the relatives of Mr. Nathan had no knowledge of the deed, and that they were simply some of the New York officials, but not by name.

The night of the 6th the lumber yard of Gotschell & Son, of Des Moines, Iowa, was set on fire in several places, destroying lumber to the value of $30,000. Supposed to have been fired by thieves and cracksmen in advance of Barnum's showing.

On the night of 6th, a negro who had attempted to rob and violate the person of Mrs. John Howard of Athens, Tenn., was taken from the jail by a mob and hanged.

By arrival at San Francisco, on the 24th of the schooner Sky Lake, the loss of the Clara B. Suttie is reported. She left there for Coos Bay. On the 20th a heavy sea started the stern-post and she sank at half-past 10 p. m. The crew were in a boat four days and nights without food or water, and then picked up by the Sky Lake.

The flouring mill at Dorris, seventeen miles south of Grand Rapids, Mich., was burned on the 20th of August. The building was owned by R. W. Helmer, who sustains a loss of $12,000. Insurance, $8,000. The mill operator, Fred Newman, lost his tools and a considerable quantity of grain and flour.

The Bear Ridge colliery at Mauney City, Pa., was badly burned August 2.

An accident to an excursion steamer on the Potomac river, as reported at Washington, has been confirmed.

Wheeling bridge, West Va., on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has been badly damaged by the flood. The abutments moved over a foot. The town of Farmington is almost entirely submerged, the water being on the first floor of all the houses.

Two crevasses were reported on the lower Mississippi river on the 4th. The stretch from submerged cornfields was almost unbearable, owing to the corn rotting.

A terrible hail storm visited the Missouri valley from Sioux City to Omaha, on the 4th.

Immense damage was done to trees, foliage and crops. Hailstones weighing a pound and a half fell in great numbers.

An explosion has occurred at the arsenal at Annapolis, Pa., which killed one boy and injured twenty other boys, some fatally.

A dispatch in regard to the late explosion of the magazine in the Frankfort Arsenal says the loss of life is terrible, and, as far as can be determined in the confusion and excitement, not less than forty persons were killed and probably one hundred others are injured, many of whom cannot long survive. The building was blown in pieces. In the building were stored large quantities of powder, arms and artillery, besides battle flags and trophies taken or used in the wars of this country.

Miscellaneous.
At a spasm of the Fall River, Mass., it was voted to strike in three of the mills. The resolution was carried by a vote of two-thirds. This proceeding will, no doubt, cause a general lockout. It is believed the card grinders and weavers will vote themselves thirty days' vacation.

The Assistant Treasurer at New York has been directed to sell $1,500,000 in gold on the first Thursday in August and the same amount on the third Thursday; also $1,000,000 on the second Thursday and $1,000,000 on the fourth Thursday; $5,000,000 in all.

The public debt statement shows the decrease of the debt since June 30th to be $1,294,857; coin balance $68,932,700; currency $27,825,100.

Prof. Jenney has found gold diggings of great value in the Black Hills, including a ledge of seven or eight miles in extent. Gen. Crooks has arrived there with troops and ordered all miners to vacate the hills before the 15th inst. The miners have held meetings and decided to submit.

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky, was elected by over 30,000 majority.

The father of W. B. Dumeau, the broken banker, has guaranteed the letters of credit of Dumeau, Sherman & Co.

Col. Ross, for many years chief of the Cherokee nation, was defeated for re-election by Rev. Chas. Thompson.

Over a thousand travelers in Europe have been left without means of returning home by the failure of Dumeau, Sherman & Co. The report that Dumeau's father had given $250,000 to guarantee their letters of credit seems to be unfounded.

A judicial dispatch from Knoxville states that Judge Drigg of the United States District Court has granted Waddy Thompson a writ of habeas corpus.

The Board of Aldermen of Cincinnati have adopted a resolution eulogistic of ex-President Johnson.

About fifteen thousand persons are attending the National Methodist camp meeting at Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

The Northampton Anchor Tape and Webbing Co., of Springfield, Mass., has failed. Liabilities $90,000.

Reports from Cairo, announcing that the river had come to a stand, cause rejoicing here, though it will doubtless be several days before any change will be effected at this point.

Weather cloudy and calm. White Mountain on the 7th of August, says there is a rumor in circulation in the hotel in which Mr. Beecher is stopping that Francis D. Moulton has been in consultation with Gen. Butler, and that the result of their conference is a partial pardon plan for the rebels in action against Beecher in that country for perjury in swearing to his reply to the Tilton suit of last year, at Middleton.

Mr. Beecher has introduced in the hotel the feature of morning prayers, which will be continued until the matter is decided.

Wisconsin has suffered little from the recent rains. From some points damage by chinch bugs are reported, but the yield of wheat in the State, as a whole, will be large. There will also be good crops of oats, barley and corn.

War has been declared between the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern and the Kansas City Railroad, and a great reduction in passenger rates of the roads is the consequence.

The majority of McGee, Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky, is about 45,000, an increase over Leslie in 1871 of nearly 8,000.

Joseph H., oldest son of Brigham Young, died at Mont, Utah, very suddenly on the 6th of the 6th. Supposed to be heart disease.

The latest reports from the North Carolina election give the Democrats a small majority in the constitutional convention.

The majority of McGee, Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky, is about 45,000, an increase over Leslie in 1871 of nearly 8,000.

Disasters floods are reported in the East Indies.

At the O'Connell celebration in Dublin, the Fenian society, association crowded the front of the stand, and prevented the Mayor from speaking.

Cardinal McClosky, accompanied by his secretary, has sailed for Havre, on his way to Rome, where he will receive the hat and ring of the cardinalate.

The Madrid Government denies that it intends negotiating a seven million dollar loan to indemnify the Porto Rico slave owners.

Victor Hugo welcomed the American relief team to his residence in Paris on the 6th.

A great heavy rain, lasting twenty-four hours, and doing great damage to crops. All the bottom lands are overflowed and the streams full of floating wheat shocks. Railroad tracks are washed away in many places by the Green River and the river here is still rising slowly. The mercury fell rapidly last evening and at six this morning stood at 67, which is unprecedented in this latitude for the second of August.

Cotton on the uplands is reported suffering from the increased showers and running to weeds.

The heavy rains of the 1st inst., in Southern Ohio filled creeks heretofore dry, and covered corn and wheat fields more deeply than they were before. The Scioto river is higher than it has been for years, but no fear is felt for the levee. The Buckeye Valley railroad company only ran trains to Lancaster. President Green reports more severe floods between that point and others along the line of the road than has been known for many years.

A dispatch of the third, from Lafayette, Ind., says the flood in the Wabash river was the greatest ever known. The Wabash and Erie Canal was entirely destroyed, being broken in over a hundred places. The dispatch says the storms have given the State a terrible loss.

Millions of acres of grain, it is reliably reported, have been destroyed in Ohio. In whole counties, where the destruction has been complete, there will not be one fourth of a crop harvested.

Suicide of Hon. Charles Schaeffer, of St. Paul.
The announcement of the tragic death, by his own hand, of Hon. Charles Schaeffer, will be received with deepest sorrow by many thousands in the Northwest, and particularly in Minnesota.

Mr. Schaeffer left his home as usual about nine o'clock on Saturday morning, the 5th inst., and went to his office in the extensive wholesale building of Auerbach, Finch & Schaeffer. There was nothing unusual in his looks or actions, but he appeared to be feeling rather better than usual. He seated himself at his desk and read a somewhat lengthy letter, then went to a gunshop where he left a pistol for repairs, with instructions to have it done by eleven o'clock. After attending to some matters of ordinary business, he returned to the gunshop, where he ascertained that the pistol was ready for him, and then purchased a new revolver, had it loaded and left the store.

On the approach of night his family became uneasy at his continued absence, and a search was commenced for him, which was continued through the night and following morning, but he was not found until he was discovered in the body of the river, where he had been found, about nine o'clock.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Particulars of His Attack of Paralysis and His Death and Burial.

Ex-President Johnson died of paralysis and heart disease at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Browne, in Carter county, Tennessee, some forty miles east of Nashville, at half past two o'clock, Saturday morning, July 24th. He had been suffering for the past six weeks of ill health during the past month, but felt no apprehensions.

Last Wednesday he took the morning train to visit his daughter with whom Mrs. Johnson, his wife, had been residing for the past six weeks. He rode in a back from Carter's depot to his residence, some six miles distance, and seemed in good spirits on his arrival and ate a hearty dinner, and after a few minutes' general conversation returned up stairs and was talking alone with his grand daughter, Miss Lillie Stover. While thus engaged his tongue refused to utter a tone, and to his great consternation, he spoke of sending for a physician, but he was instantly summoned and almost as soon as raised he expressed indignantly that his right side was paralyzed. After being taken to bed, when the family doctor, Dr. J. M. Connor, arrived, he bled it, saying he would soon recover.

In this way summoning of medical aid was deferred for twenty-four hours, when one was called from Elizabethtown, two miles distant, but he was unable to do much, and at one time next day (Thursday) seemed to be succeeding. The patient conversed imperfectly in regard to domestic matters, and did not seem conscious of approach of death. As is well known, Mr. Johnson's domestic relations had not been as conducive to happiness as might have been desired. His sons, Charles and Robert, both deceased, were somewhat irregular in their habits, and were the occasion of much grief and sometimes shame to their father. Charles was thrown from his horse about the beginning of the war and was killed. Robert became very dissipated, and was at one time in an insane asylum. He died some years since.

on the northwest may be seen the Bay View and possibly the Cumberland mountains.

Thither, to music, the mournful procession moved, and was arranged in double circle around the grave, leaving an open space of about 200 feet in diameter, including the family, the Knoxville commandery, Knoxville club, the Governor and other distinguished visitors. The knights then performed their beautiful funeral ceremony, under lead of Commander Woodward, and aided by the club, and a brief abridgment of the Master Masons' ceremony of burial was then conducted with much feeling and eloquence by D. M. Connor, aided by the Greenville lodge, and amidst the moans, and sighs and tears of the bereaved family, the casket rattled upon the coffin lid of Andy Johnson.

His body was committed to the dust, his soul to the God who gave it. Nothing occurred of an unpleasant nature to mar the mournful harmony of the solemn procession. Order and quiet reigned during the whole day, and the respectful silence of the large concourse of people was a fitting tribute to the memory of one who ranked gratitude as the chiefest of human virtues.

At 3 p. m. the services were concluded, and the casket was borne away most of the visitors, and Greenville is left alone to mourn the loss of her illustrious dead.

(Greenville, Tenn., Telegram to Chicago Times.)

I had a conversation to-day with an old resident here, and a life-long friend of Mr. Johnson, who gave me some facts concerning the funeral of the President. As is well known, Mr. Johnson's domestic relations had not been as conducive to happiness as might have been desired. His sons, Charles and Robert, both deceased, were somewhat irregular in their habits, and were the occasion of much grief and sometimes shame to their father. ## NOTICE.

The undersigned having leased the interest of L. L. Baxter, in the Herald Office for a term of years, will hereafter be the sole publisher thereof.

All debts due to A. L. Du Toit & Co., must be paid to me.

Dated Aug. 10th 1875.

A. L. DU TOIT.

The Carver County Bank.

It will be seen from a notice in another column that D. L. How has withdrawn from the firm owning and operating the above named bank. Geo. A. DuToit, the Cashier, and principal owner of that bank, has had charge of the same from its commencement, and by his ability, energy and fair dealing has built up a large business and secured for his bank a high standing, equal to any in this state.

The withdrawal of Mr. How does not reduce the capital of the bank, but leaves it as heretofore with ample means and upon a substantial foundation.

The people of this county may well be proud of Mr. DuToit, and his bank. George, yet a young man, has, by his fine ability and strict integrity, raised himself to a high position in the business world. May success continue to attend him.

Dwelling Burned.

We failed to state in our last issue that the farm dwelling house of our old friend Theodore Lano, of Chanhassen, burned down, during the absence of Mr. Lano and lady from home. The loss on building is not over $300, but as most of the contents were destroyed, we are informed by Mr. L., that his loss will be fully $900, if not more. No insurance whatever. The neighbors in the vicinity done all they could towards saving the contents of the dwelling, but the fire had got such headway before they reached the building that their efforts were of little avail. Mr. and Mrs. Lano, return thanks to their neighbors for their effort in their behalf.

The Prospects.

At the present writing the outlook for the farmers of this county and state are flattering in the extreme. The heavy inundations in Europe, together with the recent severe storms in Indiana, Ohio and other middle and eastern states, has established the fact beyond doubt, that the farmers of this state will realize above $1.00 per bushel for their wheat. It may go as high as $1.25 per bushel, but not below $1. Thus it is estimated that the state of Minnesota will furnish for the market fully 25,000,000 bushels, which cannot fail of making Minnesota one of the most prosperous and wealthy states in the Union. Farmers, good times are coming, have a little patience, but then don't get intoxicated with good fortune and invest in machinery and wild cat patents, take lesson from the past and learn wisdom.

Personals.

Mr. Nagle of the Minneapolis Free Press, accompanied by Mr. Brotteuglied the political editor thereof, paid our village a pleasant visit last Friday. They expressed themselves highly pleased with the business prospects of Carver County.

Dr. Lewis of Carver and Chaska "just" dropped into our sanctum as lively as usual. He says business in his line is good.

A bevy of "Glencoe's fair" daughters, passed a few days in Chaska, visiting the family of Mr. Child.

J. H. O'Bryan, of "Dummy" fame called on his friends on Tuesday.

Messrs Gregg & Griswold, the brick manufacturers, are shipping an immense quantity of brick to St. Paul. They are rushing business.

New School Building.

The Board of Trustees of the Chaska public school district, have rented the Moravian Academy Building, for the use of the public schools the ensuing year.

The building is large, airy, well situated and calculated in every particular for a first class graded school building.

School will open in two weeks.

New Arrivals.

The families of N. Schoenborn and G. Schubert are rejoicing over new arrivals. The former being a daughter and the latter a "bouncing boy." Our population is rapidly increasing.

The Harvest.

Harvest has fairly commenced in this county, and the yield promises unusually well. Barley is already cut and in stack and some already threshed. The yield thus far from 25 to 40 bushels per acre. Oats also cut and in shock; it is also very heavy and promises more than an average yield. Wheat is being cut, and all the available hands, including women, boys and girls are following the reapers and with two weeks of fair weather, the crop will be safe from storms and ready for the threshers. Reliable advices from different parts of the county agree in saying that we will reap an unusual harvest—much the largest and best garnered in this county for years past. Corn is backward, but with good weather will yet yield a fair crop. Potatoes are good. Altogether the prospects for the farmers are flattering.

New Barley.

Quite an amount of new barley has already been threshed and marketed. Peter Hiltz, one of our enterprising brewers, has up to date bought 500 bushel of the new crop, paying from 80 to 90 cents per bushel for the same. We understand that the other brewers have also purchased of the new crop, paying the same price.

Conductor Chipman, of the Minneapolis Road,

has posters out for an excursion train on the 17th, next Tuesday. This will give the Chaska and Carver people a good opportunity to witness the afternoon performance of Barnum's Grand Hippodrome and Circus.

The train will leave Chaska at 8 o'clock a. m. Round trip, $1.25.

Children under 10 years of age 75 cents. Round trip.

—Wm. Brinkhaus is plastering his new hotel and will have it in "tip-top" shape in a couple of weeks.

—We are pained to hear of the severe illness of Joseph Ehndres, Esq., one of the oldest and most respected citizen of Carver county. He is at present at Carver. Fears are entertained for his recovery.

—What has become of our Agricultural Society. Nothing has been heard from it for some time?

—The editor is absent this week and "devil" is at the helm—which will account for all delinquencies.

Peoples Convention.

On the 6th of this month a meeting composed of prominent citizens of both political parties in this county, was held at the house of John Etzell, Lakewood, to consider the propriety of calling a peoples convention to nominate candidates for the different county offices in this county to be held at the next election. Peter Hiltz was elected Pres. and John Etzell Sec.

It was resolved by the meeting that a call should be made by the President, Peter Hiltz, for a convention to be held at John Etzell's, at such times as the Pres may select.

This action was prompted by the belief on the part of those participating in the convention, that both the Democratic and Republican county conventions will be held at a late day to give the people a fair opportunity to correct any errors, the politicians may make.

Mr. Hiltz informs us that the call for the peoples convention will be issued in a short time.

For Chief Justice, LAFAYETTE EMMETT, Of Rice County.

For Attorney General, R. A. JONES, Of Olmsted County.

For Clerk of the Supreme Court, ARCHIBALD McLEOD, Of St. Louis County.

For Railroad Commissioner, J. W. SENCERBOX, Of Scott County.

The State Fair will be held at St. Paul, September 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th, 1875.

The executive committee confidently announce, that it will be the largest and best fair ever held in the state.

For particulars and premium list address Win. Fowler, President, Newport, or to R. C. Jackson, Secretary, Farmington Minn.

POLITICS.

The politicians begin to assemble in out of the way places, and "there is music in the air" for the voters of Carver County this fall. There are some persons who have an idea that public officers should be distributed among the people as a gratuity or charity, "give somebody else a chance," "he should not hold that office for life," are the expressions often heard. We believe that to be a false principle. Public officers are simply servants of the people, and the people are conducting a large business on a grand scale, for which they require honest, capable and energetic men to perform the duties. What business man keeps changing his employees every year or two, except they be incompetent?

Upon the same principle public officers who are incompetent and dishonest, should be kept in office as long as they are faithful.

For when an untried man is placed in those positions, no one knows whether he will prove himself equal to the requirements of the duties of the office or not.

It is claimed that every Court House has its "ring." This may be true to a certain extent, but this rotation in office causes the officers to unite in the common object of re-election. Under the present public feeling, our best business men will not leave their business to accept an office, which they may not hold but one or two years.

If an incompetent man succeeds in getting elected to an office, get him out as soon as possible, but before choosing his successor, be convinced that he is qualified for the position.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's father, in the town of Laketown, on Tuesday the 14th inst., Miss Catharine Pearson, to Mr. Christian Scherer, of Minneapolis.

The ceremony was performed by Justice Hiltis, of Chaska, in the presence of a large number of the friends of the contracting parties, who after the conclusion of the ceremonies heartily congratulated the youthful couple and wished them a prosperous journey along life's pathway.

County Fair.

The officers of Carver Agricultural Society have issued the premium list, which announces that the fair will be held at Carver on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24th and 25th. Now is the time for every person in the county to prepare for it and every one should make arrangements to participate in the exhibition. It is only by taking an interest in these affairs that they can be made a success. Let every one take an interest in the county fair of 1875 and it will be a grand success.

Personal.

Col L. L. Baxter visited Northfield during the week.

Mr. Child, "out" upon the Glenwood prairie bagging Chickens.

Mr. Richter, an old resident of Chaska, some 18 years ago, is in town visiting old friends and companions of pioneer days in Minneapolis.

Ernest Hanlin, of Watertown was greeting his many friends in Chaska on Monday last.

Christian Barth of the same place also gave us a shake of the hand.

Hardware, Lumber &c.

John Funk of Carver, has one of the largest and best assorted stock of lumber for sale in the County. He has also a well assorted stock of hardware, tinware, stoves &c. Farmers, give him a call.

DIED.

At his residence in Benton Township, Sunday Aug. 15th 1875, John Hemerle.

The death of Mr. Hemerle was rather unexpected and has caused much sorrow throughout the county, as Mr. H., was an old pioneer citizen of this county, having resided in Benton some 20 years. The circumstances of his death are as follows: two weeks ago last Thursday, he was kicked by a young colt in the stomach, inflicting it seems a mortal wound, although strong hopes were entertained of his recovery until last Tuesday, when he became worse and finally passed away last Sunday. He leaves a large family, who have the sympathy of the community at large. He was buried last Tuesday.

Mr. A. L. DuToit, is building the foundation for a new dwelling house. It looks a little suspicious, I eh?

New Goods and New Prices.

Messrs. Linsefelter & Faber are determined to keep up with the times, and are offering a very large fall trade have filled every shelf in their large and commodious Store with first class goods and they have also reduced prices to correspond with the times. They have everything kept in a first class city store. Give them a call.

Chas. Kenning Esq. will commence the erection of a new frame dwelling house next week. It will be located north of Judge Sarjants residence. Good luck to you Charley.

Judge Lienau was down to Minneapolis last week, viewing the different breweries of that city, with a view to the improvements of his already first class establishment.

Harvest Ball.

The Concordia Society of this village, will give a grand harvest ball at their hall on the 29th of the present month. Good music and a good time anticipated.

People's Convention.

Eight towns have reported that they will attend the peoples convention and ask for an early call. I wish to inform all that the call will be made for the assembling of the people some time in September.

PETER HILTIS, Chrm. Com.

"Are you an Odd Fellow?" "No, sir, I've been married for a week." "I mean do you belong to the order of Odd Fellows?" "No, no; I belong to the order of married men." "Merely, how dumb! Are you a Mason?" "No, I'm a carpenter by trade." "Where and where are you a son of Temperance?" "Neither you, no; I'm a son of Mr. John Brown."

—This number of the Herald commences the 14th year of its existence, and we have no hesitancy in saying that the past year has been its most prosperous.

We hereby extend our thanks to the patrons of the Herald for their support in the past, and as the paper grows older we will try and make it better.

PERSONAL.—Our old friend August Klammner, deputy post-master, has finally disposed of his city property, and will take his departure for Woodland, California, next Monday.

Mr. K. has had this move in view for a number of years, believing that the climate of California will agree with his health much better than Minnesota.

Mr. K. has been a resident of Chaska, over ten years, and in that time has made a host of friends.

Mr. K. was a member of the 5th Minn., and lost a limb at the battle of Nashville, and now wears an artificial limb.

He has been in charge of our post-office for the past 8 years, and retires with the good will of the entire community.

We hope that success will attend him and family in their new home.

—Call and see Fred Henning and he will tell you something to your advantage.

Funeral of J. Endres.—Joseph Endres, whose death is noticed in Carver items, was buried at Waconia last Tuesday.

The body was escorted by a very large procession of teams from Carver, and were met at Kellers by delegations from Chaska, Laketown and other places in the county, and moved on to Waconia, where the procession was met by St. Joseph Society, and escorted to the church.

The funeral ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Father Leuthart. The ceremonies in the church were very impressive and the sermon at the grave by the Rev. Father from Jordan was spoken of as being very eloquent and instructive.

The funeral was one of the largest we ever attended in the county.

—George Faber and A. C. Lassen were designated by Mr. Jos. Endres, some time previous to his death as executors of his last will and testament.

These two parties have also had charge of his business interests for some time past, owing to the illness of Mr. E.

—Goods of all kinds at panic prices at Thies & Wolf's. Now is your time to purchase.

—Justice Sargent and Todd's courts, are again under full headway. For the past 3 weeks, there was very little legal business before our justice tribunals— all owing to the busy season, we suppose.

Merchants Hotel.—William Brinkhouse, has named his new hotel, the Merchants Hotel. It will be opened on or about the 1st of September, when he expects to be able to greet his many friends and entertain them in such a manner as will prove satisfactory. The Parlor and rooms will rank with any in the valley when completed.

Drug Store.—We are informed that the Ackerman Bros., of Young America village, have opened a new drug store in that burgh, and that the gentlemanly and obliging Julius Ackerman is in charge of the same.

Wagons and Buggies.

Don't go away from home to purchase wagons and buggies, for Joseph Ess, will furnish you with a first class farm wagon, made from the best of material for $90, and buggies from $100 to $150, made from the best of material and put up in the most approved patterns.

Mr. Ess is preparing to manufacture a large number of sleighs and cutters, and now is the time to order them if you would be prepared for a sleigh ride on Christmas.

Harnesses.—M. Hammer has a large stock of double harnesses on hand all of his own manufacture which he will sell for $30 to $42, all warranted to be made of the best material, he also keeps on hand a large stock of collars, sweat pads, &c.

Mr. Hammer is a first class workman and guarantees all his work.

—The Young America Singing Society, Chas. Bachman leader, sang a very appropriate song at the grave of Jos. Endres last Tuesday. It was very highly appreciated by those present.

Closing Out.—Messrs. Linenfelser & Faber are selling out their large stock of dry goods, groceries, ready made clothing, crockery &c. &c. at greatly reduced prices, to make room for their immense fall stock which will begin to arrive next month. Now is the time to buy goods cheap.

Birthday Party.—John Funk, one of the old and prominent citizens of Carver, celebrated his 49th birthday recently, by inviting all his friends to partake of refreshments &c. at his residence, and winding up by having a dance for the young folks in the evening. A good time was had by all, and it is hoped that Mr. Funk may live to celebrate and enjoy many more such occasions.

Hoop-Poles Wanted.—Messrs. Ranch & Bulmer of this village, are buying hoop-poles at Hellrigel corner some 3 miles from town and are paying $12.00 per thousand for the same cash. They want good size poles, as they are making them into hoops. This is a good offer, and we doubt not that they will get a very large quantity during the fall and winter.

—Peter Hiltz will soon have his new beer ready for market, this beer is made by the new process and is No. 1.

Mr. Hiltz is about to build an addition to his brewery 20 x 60 feet, and will have a cellar the same size, which will make it one of the first class breweries in the state.

People's Convention.

The peoples convention will be held at John Etzels, September 8th 1875, at 10 o'clock, when the convention will proceed to nominate candidates for county officers.

There will be speeches, by the leading men of the democratic and republican parties.

All are invited to attend. The Chaska Cornet Band will entertain the occasion with some of their choice music.

PETER HILTZ, Chairman.

JOHN ETZEL, Secy.

CARVER ITEMS.

Joe Ehndres, who has been lying sick at Mrs. Stegers for a month past, with consumption, passed quietly away on Sunday morning last at 9 o'clock. Mr. E. was one of the oldest and most prominent citizens, and business men of Waconia, being one of the firm of Haback & Ehndres, millers at that place.

His wife died about a year ago, and he leaves but one child, a boy 10 years of age.

He was buried at Waconia on Tuesday, the funeral being one of the largest ever seen in the county. These, one by one, the "old settlers" are passing away.

Candidates for county officers begin to "smile" pleasantly upon their friends.

Past Master Denny, informs us that his office has recently been made a "Canadian money order office."

"Chaska Bakers Bread" for sale at Jacob Hoenes.

Dr. Jones can now be found at Larsons Hotel.

Dr. Lewis and J. S. Nelson, spent a portion of last week in chicken hunting, in the vicinity of Glencoe. They will please accept our thanks for a sample left with us.

John Funk wants to buy 50,000 bushels of barley for which he will pay the very highest cash price.

A. P. Larson of San Francisco, informs us that he raised and threshed, 300 bushels of wheat from seven acres of land. Beat that if you can.

M. J. Ginter, Esq. formerly of this place, is now traveling for Frank Yanz of Hastings, wholesale liquor and cigar dealers.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of meeting A. H. Bode Esq. Sup't. of the Minneapolis P. & O., on Thursday last, and found him a tip-top pleasant gentleman, and with E. M. Gaylord, the popular train dispatcher, make two of the most efficient railroad officials in the State.

John Letford Jr., son of Hon. J. S. Letford of Brown County, spent a few days in town last week, among his friends.

Capt. Geo. Houghton returned from Pokagon Falls on Saturday last, he returns on Sept. 1st.

A. J. Carlson, Capt. Mills, H. R. Deury, J. S. Nelson, Peter Thoreson, Dr. Northrop, Fred Straube, C. A. Bloomquist, editor Colton, Peter Buttendorf, Geo. Hertz and others were in to see "Baroness" at Minneapolis last week.
